CIVILIANS KILLED BY BOMBS.

FAMILIES WIPED OUT AT NANNING.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE LEAVE: FOREIGNERS PREPARE.

ROBBER GANG'S HAUL.

The plight of the inhabitants of Nanning, on the West River, which is in the hands of rebel Kwangsi troops and which for weeks past has been besieged by Yunnanese and Cantonese troops, is vividly told in news from the Telegraph correspondent.

Aerial raids by Cantonese bombing planes have resulted in the killing of approximately two hundred innocent civilians, whole families in some instances being wiped out.

So serious has the food situation become that the Garrison Commander recently gave the civilian population forty-eight hours in which to withdraw from the city, any who remained being ordered to store up food supplies for two months. As a result of this order, out of a population of 60,000, no fewer than 42,000 left almost immediately.

Some two hundred refugees, including many wealthy Chinese, who had taken refuge in the Socony premises, were visited by a gang of robbers two days before our correspondent's news was posted, with the result that $15,000 worth of jewellery and valuables were taken. Many of the women refugees were brutally treated.

In view of the seriousness of the situation, the Customs Commissioner and staff, the A.P.C. and Socony agents, and doctors from the Emmanuel Hospital have gone aboard launches with a view to possibly moving down river.

The report issued by the Canton News Agency that Nanning had been captured from the Kwangsi rebels is now officially denied in Canton.

SERIOUS FOOD SITUATION.

Writing under date of August 26, our correspondent says:

The main item of news during the last seven days is the withdrawal of the Yunnanese troops from the environments of the city. This evacuation of their lines took place sometime during the night of the 19th inst.

On the south side of the city, they withdrew to the village of Ting Tse-hui, crossed their position below and out of sight of the city defenders, and took away about twelve boats from this bank, thus severing connection between the two sides of the river, but not destroying the bridge. It could be quickly reconstructed.

Two Hundred Killed.

The reason for this withdrawal may be three-fold:

(1) To give the civilian population a chance to escape. The bombing by the Cantonese planes has been a desperate business and approximately 200 people have been killed, in many cases whole families blown to pieces. The condition of the wounded is invariably complicated with severe burns. No estimate has been taken of the number of wounded.

(2) To await guns of sufficient calibre to breach the city walls and defences.

(3) To await a breach obtained by means of accurate bombing by the Cantonese planes.

Although visibility has been bad on several occasions, the planes have succeeded in bombing the city on the 21st, when four bombs were dropped, and on the 23rd, when four more bombs were dropped, but there has been no raid since.

42,000 Civilians Leave.

A proclamation was issued by the Nanning Garrison Commander in which civilian population was allowed 48 hours to withdraw from the city. Those who wished to remain were required to store up sufficient food for two months.

The population of Nanning was, roughly, at the beginning of hostilities, 60,000. On the 21st, 30,000 left the city, a smaller number the previous day and a few thousand the next day—in all 42,000 civilians have withdrawn, leaving 18,000 in the city and about 3,000 soldiers.

It has been noticed that the Kwangsi soldiers are now wearing red and white ties. This may, or may not, be of significance. The Yunnanese declare they will take the city at all costs and openly declare that the defenders of Nanning are being influenced by Communist propaganda.

Refugees Robbed.

On the night of the 24-25th inst., the Socony premises on the Bund, in which were some 200 refugees from the city and a large number of influential and wealthy merchants, was entered by robbers at about 11.30 p.m. Sentries were picketed around the building and the raid lasted till about 2.30 a.m. with almost uncanny quietness and audacity.

Boxes were ripped open, if the keys were not forthcoming, and the women were deprived of all their jewellery and bracelets; the obtaining of the latter was brutally effected by wrenching them off their wrists. It is estimated that, in all, $15,000 worth of money and valuables was taken.

Foreigners Leave.

The robbers were mostly stripped to the waist and apparently only carried side arms and electric torches.

This incident has decided the remaining Agents to leave the Bund. The Commissioner of Customs, with his staff, the A.P.C., and Socony agents and three doctors from the Emmanuel Hospital are now occupying the A.P.C., and Socony launches and oil boats which are just below the pontoon bridge. Application has been made for permission to proceed down river.—Our Own Correspondent.

Incorrect Report.

On the 4th instant, the Canton News Agency published a report saying that Nanning was captured on the previous Saturday, adding that "it is now confirmed that the 10th Route (Yunnan) Army were the first to enter the city, followed by a portion of the 59th Division under Yu Hon-mou, the 16th newly-organized Division under Yang Ting-chung, and the Independent Brigade under Wang Yam-wan from the east and south gates." It was further stated that upon the arrival of the Government forces, peace and order in Nanning were immediately restored, while the residents were pursuing their usual duties.

News circulated by the same Agency under date of the 6th inst. (Continued on Page 12.)

"REDS" THREATEN SHASHI.

JAPANESE BOARD GUNBOATS.

OTHER YANGTZE PORTS NOW APPREHENSIVE.

BRITISH PRECAUTION.

Shanghai, Sept. 7. A rapid Communist advance on Shashi and a minor attack on the Nationalist forces in the outskirts of the city last evening have caused great excitement to the foreign and Chinese residents, resulting in the complete withdrawal of Japanese women and children, who have taken shelter on Japanese gunboats.

The invasion on Shashi, considered to be one of the most important commercial towns on the Yangtze, is causing apprehension to other Yangtze ports. The first news was received on Saturday morning, when it was known that the bandits were advancing and encountering the Government forces some ten miles from the city proper.

Weak Defence.

The few hundred Government troops at Shashi are considered most inadequate to defend the city against a Communist invasion, and an urgent dispatch has been sent to Wuchang and Hankow asking for strong reinforcements.

British gunboats on the lower reaches of the Yangtze are likely to rush to Shashi to protect British residents. One of the British gunboats arrived this morning shortly before noon.

Communist Strength.

The uneasiness of the populace is heightened by the fact that the real strength of the Communists is unknown, but it is freely stated that there are something like three thousand "Reds" marching on Shashi.

The "Reds," known as units of the 5th Communist Army, fully realise the inability of the Government troops in Hupeh and Hunan to resist any concerted action by the bandits to loot and plunder.

It is stated that the attack on Shashi is in no way connected with the disturbances at Changsha.

Changsha Victory.

General Ho Chien, of Changsha, has telegraphed to the Hankow military command stating that the Government forces claimed complete victories in battles against the bandits from Monday to Thursday, when the notorious Communist chief, Chu Tak, was among the thousands of "Reds" killed.

Five thousand Government troops are engaged in the pursuit of the Communists. The fleeing bandits are resisting the troops at Liling, which is expected to fall at any moment.

In a most significant statement General Ho Chien expressed the fear that there are from 40,000 to 50,000 Communist hooligans at large in Hunan and Kiangsi, and he demands the keenest attention to this evil by the Hunan Provincial Government. He has requested the Hankow commanders to spare another Nanking division of 5,000 men for Changsha to take active part in the eliminating of all undesirable elements.

Shanghai Rowdiness.

Several Communists were detained in Nanking Road, Shanghai, this morning for distributing Communist pamphlets to a Chinese crowd. Throughout the day, the native city proclaimed martial law on account of a reported Communist intention to create disturbances on this day.

Disturbing news of bandit and Communist troubles at Hukowhsien, near Kuling, in Kiangsi, has been received, and the Hankow Government is the recipient of many telegrams from districts near Kukuang asking for reinforcements.

The Northern war situation has shown no significant turn during the week-end, a lull prevailing along the Tientsin-Pukow and (Continued on Page 12.)

FAILURE OF STEEL CARTEL.

IMPOSSIBLE TO MAINTAIN WORLD CONTROL.

Cologne, Sept. 7. An attempt to keep the international (Continental) raw steel cartel alive is to be made by the formation of separate cartels for the release of products within the framework of the existing organisation.

It is acknowledged that the cartel cannot maintain world control while important groups like Britain and Poland stand outside. It is almost certain, therefore, that manufacturers of certain products will be given a free hand. The whole question will be settled at a meeting at Liege on September 12.—Reuter.

CAMP IN ARCTIC LOCATED.

ANDREE EXPEDITION DISCOVERIES.

REMAINS OF THIRD MAN IN THE PARTY.

SWIFT CATASTROPHE.

Stockholm, Sept. 7. The whaler Isbjorn, which was despatched to White Island with journalists on board, reports having located the remains of Andree's camp and having found parts of a human skeleton, presumably the remains of Fraenkel, the third member of the Andree expedition.

Scientific instruments, weapons and Fraenkel's notebook were also found. The camp was in excellent order and the death of the explorers appears to have been the result of a swift catastrophe, such as a blizzard.—Reuter.

Tromsø, Sept. 2.

Dr. Gunnar Horn, discoverer of the remains of the Andree expedition on White Island, arrived here to-day aboard the little motorship Dratvaag and turned over to representatives of the Norwegian Government the evidences he had collected of the fate of the first attempt to cross the North Pole by air.

After Norwegian and Swedish experts had come aboard and examined the evidences of the tragedy, the cases containing the relics were put ashore the quay of the Swedish consulate by the crew of the Dratvaag, and the first log of Andree's homeward journey had been completed.

The remains were placed in a hearse on the pier, and from there a solemn procession moved to the infirmary, where professors under the direction of the Norwegian Government prepared to make an examination which would establish the authenticity of the polar story.

Public Interest.

The crew of the Norwegian steamer Michael Sars formed the guard of honour. Behind the hearse walked Dr. Horn, Dr. Hedren, head of the examining staff, and other Norwegian scientific commissioners and physicians. These distinguished scientists, explorers and Government officials were followed by the county sheriffs and the representatives of the city.

There was no great public reception to greet the Dratvaag, but a large crowd assembled at the waterfront when it became known that the vessel had made port. The crowd watched the preliminary examination made by the government agents on the deck of the motorship and manifested intense interest in the exhibits brought ashore.

Died of Exhaustion.

Skjaer Island, Sept. 2. August Andree, the Swedish balloonist and explorer, and his companions in the ill-fated attempt to fly over the North Pole in a balloon in 1897, died of exhaustion and slept themselves into death, it is believed by Dr. Gunnar Horn, head of the expedition that found their remains on White Island, east of Spitzbergen, last month.

After a tortuous march and a ride in a frail boat across 180 miles of ice and icy water from the spot where their balloon descended, the explorers sustained life for only a few months. They lived by killing birds and one bear for food. With the approach of winter they died, one by one.

Their bodies remained in their natural graves of ice and snow until August 6, when two harpooners of the Horn expedition, seeking drinking water on the bleak island, discovered the boat and the boat hook that once belonged to the Andree expedition.

Skeletons Found.

They began an investigation which ended in the discovery of the headless, clothed skeleton of Andree, the clothed skeleton of one of his companions and a group of bones which may be those of the third member of the party.

To-day, nearly a month after the discovery, Dr. Horn and his associate are anchored in the harbor (Continued on Page 12.)

MR. HANSKE NOT YET FREE.

AWAITING ARRIVAL OF A MILITARY ESCORT.

AGITATION LIKELY.

Swatow, Sept. 6. Although a message has been received from the Magistrate at Chao An to the effect that Mr. C. Hanske, who was arrested last week after being paraded through the streets with a paper "fool's" cap on his head, had been released, Mr. Hanske has not yet returned here-by now.

Mr. Hanske is attached to the Deutsche Stickstoff Handels-gesellschaft (German Nitrogen Trading Company) for whom Messrs. Jebson and Co. are the local agents and two of the staff of the latter company are visiting Chao An in order to learn of Mr. Hanske's whereabouts.

There was at one time some danger of Mr. Hanske being murdered by the mob. There are no troops in the district and the reason for the delay in his release is apparently that a military escort is necessary. This will have to be sent to Chao An from Changchow, near Amoy.

Mr. Hanske is stationed in Swatow with Messrs. Jebson and Co., being engaged in the work of instructing farmers in the use of chemical fertilisers.

For some time past an agitation has been conducted by the so-called patriotic society "the association for the promotion of the use of native goods," which is financed by the bean cake merchants to boycott sulphate of ammonia.

Their method is to write letters to the Magistrates and other officials throughout the district asking them to prohibit the use of chemical fertilisers. They also write to political associations like the Kuomintang who take such action as they dare.

Several acts of aggression against dealers in foreign fertilisers have taken place recently and it is possible that the situation will become serious. It may develop into a big anti-foreign campaign.—Our Own Correspondent.

OFFICIAL RUBBER DECISION.

RESTRICTION NOT TO BE SUPPORTED.

STRAITS AND DUTCH EAST INDIES AGREE.

"TAKE OWN COURSE."

London, Sept. 7. The Governor of the Straits Settlements, Sir Cecil Clementi, after consultation with the Governor General of the Dutch East Indies has announced that neither Government is prepared to support officially any scheme of rubber restriction.

Over-production in proportion to the world's requirements has caused a crisis in the industry, the price for the commodity falling substantially below the cost of production.

In view of Dutch opposition, the Straits Government has decided that unilateral action would be worse than useless and has therefore reached the conclusion that "economic laws be allowed to take their course in the hope that by this means stabilisation of prices will be realised and the industry then enter upon a normal period in which the supply and demand, approximately balance each other."

In London yesterday, rubber reached a new low record of 4 3/16d. per pound.—British Wireless.

One Remaining Hope.

Amsterdam, Sept. 7. The report that the Government of the Straits Settlements has decided not to intervene in the present rubber crisis has been unfavourably received, although the decision was generally anticipated. A similar statement is now expected from the Government of the Dutch Indies.

With the apparent failure of all schemes for organised restriction or valorisation, hope is now centred in the likelihood that the present price of fourpence a pound is low enough to cause natural restriction in tapping, even including the Dutch-Indian planter.—Reuter.

Three Courses Open.

Speaking recently at the annual meeting of the Anglo-Dutch Plantations of Java, Col. Sir Robert Williams said that in the present crisis it appeared to the Board that three courses were open. These were:—

1. To bring in a scheme of voluntary restriction, provided it is supported by as much of the industry as, say, supported the May tapping holiday, with Government assistance, that they will help to spread propaganda among small Asiatic planters in the hope that they will support such a scheme, or (2) to do nothing unless the Governments of the countries mainly interested will enforce a scheme of restriction on members of all nationalities alike.

The first suggestion has certain points in its favour. A well-thought-out scheme on such a basis might right the position temporarily, but in the belief of your directors it would only be postponing the evil day. If such a scheme did succeed in advancing prices, the native producer, with the greater benefit he would be obtaining on his unrestricted output, would be encouraged to go on planting, until the control of the industry virtually passed into his hands. We are convinced that a scheme compulsory for all producers is the only alternative to the third course of letting the position right itself, which would be a long and certainly a painful process.

Compulsory Restriction.

What then are the prospects of obtaining powers for compulsory restriction? Besides the planter, there are two other partners who in their own way are equally interested in the industry. One is the manufacturer and the other is the Government. With regard to the former, I cannot believe that manufacturers would regard the passing of the industry under native control with anything but the most profound dismay. I cannot imagine a greater calamity befalling them. The Governments are, to a large extent, interested in rubber for their revenues. (Continued on Page 7.)

REVOLUTION IN ARGENTINE.

PRESIDENT SURRENDERS TO REBEL FORCES.

BRIEF FIGHTING.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 6. The Vice-President, Sr. Enrique Martinez, has proclaimed a state of siege in the capital for the period of a month with a view to restoring normal conditions. The resignation of President Hipolito Yrigoyen is the culmination of discontent among the working classes, which led the President to take extraordinary measures to prevent an upheaval. The capital was for some time in the hands of the Naval and Military forces, but the demonstrations against the Government continued, and, finally, the Ministers offered to resign collectively if the President would do the same. President Yrigoyen, however, refused to do so. The Minister of War, General Luis J. Dellepiane, resigned on the 3rd inst., and President Yrigoyen followed suit when he became persuaded that such action alone would keep developments within the constitution. Minor disorders are now widespread in the Capital, but the troops have the situation well in hand.—Reuter's American Service.

Aerial Demonstration.

New York, Sept. 6. Messages from Buenos Aires say that a state of nervous tension exists in the city. Military disaffection against the President is general in the Buenos Aires area and the attitude of the Navy is uncertain.

Troops are awaiting orders to march on the capital, headed by General Jose Uriburu, a nephew of ex-President Uriburu.

General Uriburu has sent an ultimatum to President Yrigoyen demanding his resignation, stating that if he does not comply he will bombard the Government Palace. An army aeroplane flew over the Palace and the President's private residence this morning and was succeeded a few minutes later by twenty armed aeroplanes which flew round the city in formation and later returned to the El Palomar aerodrome.—Reuter's American Service.

Open Revolt.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 6. Open revolution has now broken out.—Reuter's American Service.

Navy Joins Movement.

Buenos Aires, later. The Navy has joined the Army in a united effort to oust the 78-year-old President, Hipolito Yrigoyen. Admiral Storni, who is commanding a squadron of thirteen warships lying in the harbour, has sent a message to the Government signed by every officer of the squadron and the Navy warning them not to fire shots against the forces led by General Uriburu. Lieutenant Francisco Torres was shot by his fellow officers for refusing to join the movement. The First Cavalry Regiment at first refused to join but yielded to threats after half an hour.

President Yrigoyen was astounded at the strength of the opposition to his regime.—Reuter's American Service.

White Flag Hoisted.

New York, Sept. 7. A message from Buenos Aires reports the success of the revolutionists and states that the white flag has been hoisted on Government House.—Reuter's American Service.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS.

Only Alternative After His Arrest.

New York, Sept. 7. It is learned that Yrigoyen was arrested and is detained at the military barracks.

Yrigoyen has now handed in his definite resignation.—Reuter's American Service.

Newspaper Offices Burned.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 7. Columns of troops from the north and south fraternising with the civil population and converging on Government House, where the Cabinet were sitting in a day long session, was the signal for the Government to hoist the white flag of surrender.

The crowd poured into Government House and tore down President Yrigoyen's portrait, which was publicly burned in the square later. They ransacked the Government offices. Meanwhile, the police had fired on the revolutionists who repelled with machine guns. There were several casualties.

Mobs set fire to the offices of La Epoca and other newspapers, the firemen refusing to extinguish the flames or support the police.

The whereabouts of ex-President Yrigoyen and his Cabinet are unknown.—Reuter's American Service.

New President Chosen.

New York, Sept. 7. One thousand were killed and wounded in the revolution in the Argentine according to an unofficial announcement from Buenos Aires.

The revolutionists have formed a military "junta" to take control, with General Jose Evaristo Uriburu as President and the Conservative Deputy, Enrique Santamaria as Vice President in succession to Sr. Martinez who has resigned.—Reuter's American Service.

A More Detailed Account.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 7. The revolutionary provisional Government has decreed the dissolution of Congress. The following is a more detailed account of yesterday's events:

The Second Division of the Army, accompanied by thousands of armed students, marched on the capital, preceded by military aeroplanes. Two infantry regiments stationed to defend the north side of the city went over to the revolutionaries. The column then came into conflict with the supporters of Yrigoyen in front of the Congress House, but after much firing the revolutionaries captured the building.

The Surrender.

Government House was guarded by a thousand loyal troops, and revolutionaries demanded the surrender of the building. Eventually a white flag was run up, and rebels rushed the building, over which rebel planes were swooping.

Throughout the fighting, a number of trams and taxis were running normally in many of the streets.

Senor Gonzales, ex-Minister of the Interior, and Senor Bonavides, ex-Secretary to Yrigoyen, were arrested.

Martial law has been extended all over the Republic. Reports from the interior state that the revolution is popularly acclaimed in the provinces, though hitherto the provincial governments remain in power.

A Proclamation.

Uriburu has issued a proclamation declaring that the Provisional Government intends to respect the constitution, and desires a resumption of normal conditions and free elections.

Members of the Provisional Government undertake not to accept candidature for the presidency.—Reuter's American Service.

Intrigue for Power.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 7. In view of ex-President Yrigoyen's majority at the presidential elections of 1928 his present situation represents the greatest landslide any President of the Argentine Republic has ever suffered. One of the reasons for his surprise at the present turn of events is that he almost lived a hermit-like sort of existence, which kept him out of touch with public feeling.

The sudden flareup of the flames of revolt absolutely staggered him. Moreover, the President is said to have been studious.

Film is Cloudy... teeth are white and sparkling

DON'T be discouraged if teeth are not white and sparkling. You have 9 chances in 10 that they are merely coated with a dingy film. This is what has been found in thousands upon thousands of cases.

What film is

Film is the great enemy of teeth and gums—a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth and gum disorders. Film absorbs the stains from food and smoking and gives that cloudy look. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays.

Film hardens into tartar. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. To remove film use the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film and easily remove it in gentle safety to enamel.

Pepsodent contains no pumice, harmful grit or crude abrasive. It is so safe that dentists recommend it for cleaning the soft teeth of children.

Don't expect the same results from old-time dentifrices. See for once and all how white teeth really are.

The unhappy finish of the monoplane K of New Haven's attempted non-stop refueling flight to Buenos Aires is seen above in the tangled mass wreckage to which the craft was reduced in a 600-foot plunge from the clouds into the sagebrush near Bostwick, Ga. The three pilots were uninjured, however.

GHASTLY SCENES IN S. DOMINGO.

DEATH ROLL ESTIMATED AT 4,000.

Santo Domingo, Sept. 6.
 The latest hurricane death roll is computed at from 1,600 to 2,000, while more are dying as the result of distressing sanitary conditions.

The United States Marine officer who flew over Port Au Prince, likened the City to "a toy smashed by the hand of a giant baby who, not content with this mischief, had stirred up the wreckage with a stick." He reported that the floods had washed out corpses from the cemeteries in which the coffins were floating like corks.

The corpses are now being collected in heaps and placed in concrete cisterns and burned 50 at a time.

On landing the officer saw handcarfts full of bodies, with overworked "drivers" cursing, swearing, and crying "more dead, always more!"

Men and women are going about dazed, hysterical, and almost naked, owing to the loss of their belongings.—Reuter's American Service.

Four Thousand Dead.
 Santo Domingo, Sept. 7.
 Dead bodies are still being discovered in the ruins. Dr. Antonio Calderon, who is in charge of the sanitary service, estimates that at least 4,000 persons perished in the city.

An Appalling Scene.
 Only 400 persons remain out of 10,000. The extent of the damage has been estimated at $350,000,000. An instance of the appalling scenes witnessed during the disaster was the collapse of the maternity hospital of Milla Francisca, entombing at least fifty mothers and their new-born babes. Sheets of zinc, with which the hospital was lined, decapitated a number of screaming and helpless mothers and infants.—Reuter's American Service.

Personality
What is it?

Personality, that mysterious, attractive force, of which the possessors are so envied, has puzzled the psychologists for ages. Does it depend on good looks or smart wearing apparel, or is it the radiation of some subtle quality of the mind? It is stated authoritatively to be simply the expression of perfect mental and physical poise. In other words—vitality—good health!

That theory seems logical, for strong, attractive personality is usually found in the vigorous, healthy type of person. It is rarely seen in debilitated persons.

And the first essential to health, vitality and attractive personality is an abundant supply of pure blood.

WOMEN'S WORLD

FOR OUR LADY READERS.

How to Practise New Art of Subtle "Make-Up."

Charm via the subtle-beauty route comes through careful grooming, in the new mode.
Right: Be sure your lipstick perfectly matches your rouge, and don't use too much of either.
Left: As a final touch of perfection, apply a drop of perfume to your lips and your ear lobes.

You can gauge a woman's real self-respect this season by the amount of time she is willing to spend on making herself beautiful.

You can't do a perfect and subtle job of improving on nature if you hurry it too much. And don't forget that your hair and your nails are an integral part of your grooming.

For the past decade, obvious make-up was chic. An agile lady could just about dash on her lipstick and rouge and run a comb through her hair while running for a street car.

To-day, the age of leisurely elegance is upon us. Make-up that flatters but is not obvious is the preferred. Rouging and using one's lipstick, and eye-brow colouring, powder, becomes an art. There is no denying art takes time!

A Half-hour Task.

"Spend at least 30 minutes on your face," is the advice of Lucien Lelong, Paris expert on feminine beauty and attire. "Before starting for the day's shopping or for the office and again before leaving for the evening's entertainment, a half hour is little enough time for beautifying."

"As the first step in beauty, before you begin make-up select your rouge and lipstick with the greatest of care. I have seen women use vermilion lipstick and orange rouge on their faces simultaneously, and nothing on earth could defeat a beautiful and natural look more effectively. They should match exactly and of course bear some direct relation to one's own general tone of colouring."

The choice of powder's colour is quite as important as rouge and lipstick. Those who have gone in for suntan should have a look at ochre and orange tints. Those who prefer pale beauty should not mar it with flesh pink powder, but try the soft ivory skin tones, those that add pallor to already pale cheeks. And the choice of make-up for the eyes is even more important than face powder. For the eyes are the focal points of beauty this autumn and should be treated most subtly and artistically.

Beauty More Than Skin Deep.

The old saying that beauty is more than skin deep, is, of course, true. The actual health of an individual is what gives sparkle to the eyes and lift to the carriage. But the care of the skin itself is of tremendous importance. Especially now, when the least obvious make-up is the chic one, the creaminess and tone of the skin is a first step to beauty.

Anyone who has been out in the open this summer must try some of the fine emollient creams that are on the market now. They are excellent for that parched feeling your face may have. They are used after cleansing cream has thoroughly removed the dirt. They are soft and caressing and the face relaxes under their use, especially if they are warmed slightly to blood temperature. Oils for the tender portions around the eyes and the corners of the nose are other luxuries that women should make necessities. And after this treatment, a good astringent closes the pores but leaves the skin soft. Last comes a brisk ice rub, either pieces of ice wrapped in a towel or one of the new contrivances that hold ice and can be used as a kind of iron on the face to strengthen any lagging muscles.

Before the Make-up.

An eye tonic should be used next and the face patted dry before any make-up base is applied. Face powder, rouge, lipstick and eye make-up should all bear much the same relation in tone and compatibility that your skin and features do.

Perfume plays a subtle game this season, too. The only obvious perfume one does is the final touch to a make-up. That consists of a dash of your favourite perfume on the lobe of each ear and on your lips. Since your bath has been scented and your lingerie has its sachets folded in it, and you have used perfume spray while grooming, this is just a suggestion, a last fine touch to a perfect operation.

This 30 minutes does more to you than merely make you your prettiest. It, in some indescribable way, flatters you, makes you feel that after all you are someone of importance. Therefore, spending 30 minutes on your face is not only for beauty's sake. It is for the sake of psychology too, and we all know the importance of psychology!

A BEAUTY HINT.

Care of the Hands.

The task of keeping the hands smooth and white should be easy just now, when many women are wearing long gloves at formal outdoor functions.

"It is the everyday treatment of the hands that really counts," said a beauty specialist in Albermarle street. "Every night, massage with a cream made from almond meal. Use a day cream regularly, and a hand lotion which should be rubbed in while the hands are only half dry after washing. Soften hard water by dissolving in it an aromatic essence."

Almond Cuticle Cream.
"Cuticle cream made from almond oil should be used every night, and the cuticle pressed back in the morning and after every washing."

Flesh-coloured nail varnish is now the most popular, while the deepest to be seen is coral. Pointed nails have given way to oval shapes. Few women are seen now with the blood-red talons that were an ugly recent fashion.

SWEEPSTAKES.

Whilst there will be general satisfaction felt at the fact that the Government is at length giving conditional legal sanction to club sweepstakes on pony races, we can foresee the possibility of considerable criticism of some of the provisions of the Ordinance which has been drafted to effect this change. Hitherto, it has been glaringly anomalous that, for example, the police should continue carrying out raids on the poorer classes indulging in a mild "flutter" whilst at the same time wholesale gambling in the form of sweepstakes, which is just as illegal, should be winked at by the authorities. In future, however, if the amending Ordinance becomes law, the conducting of sweepstakes will no longer be illegal, provided certain conditions are observed. It is true that, as a consequence, one form of gambling will enjoy the protection of the law whilst others continue to be unlawful, but there will at least be an end to the authorities condoning breaches of the Gambling Ordinance by ignoring the existence of a practice which has had no legal sanction.

It is when we come to consider the conditions laid down that we find cause for criticism. The securing of written permission from the police and the laying down of the percentages of commission which Clubs may take cannot be objected to; in reality, these conditions have already been unofficially in force. What the public will most likely resent, however, is the proposed abolition of the sale of tickets, excepting on the actual racecourse. Under the terms of the amending Ordinance, the only actual tickets to be sold will be "by the club organising the race on the premises of the racecourse during the meeting at which the race takes place to persons attending such meeting." Otherwise, the only participation allowed in sweepstakes will be by members or subscribers of clubs running sweepstakes signing their names to numbers on lists in the premises of the clubs to which they belong. Ordinary social or sporting clubs may run sweepstakes for the benefit of their members, as agents for any other approved club, whether within the Colony or elsewhere, but only on the basis of providing lists for signature by members. It will thus be seen that clubs which do not organise the actual races will not be allowed to issue any tickets whatever, this right being solely confined to the organising clubs and, even then, the tickets must be sold nowhere but on the racecourse during the actual meeting. In the past, numerous social clubs have issued sweepstake tickets on the races, and, whilst these have been nominally intended for members, the outside public has experienced no difficulty in securing chances. Under the proposed new law, not only will the issuing of tickets by such clubs be prohibited, but the right to participate in the sweeps will be confined to members. This is how we read the provisions of the amending Ordinance, inasmuch as it is laid down that "the chances shall be allocated only to members and subscribers," and it is further provided that "no hawking of chances ... shall be permitted." Incidentally, we are left to wonder by what method the authorities are to prevent such "hawking."

That the Government has had the courage to swallow any scruples which it may have possessed, by legalising this particular form of gambling, is satisfactory, especially since the position becomes much more regularised than it is at present. But, having taken this step, it is difficult to see why it should place so many obstacles in the way of public participation in what will become a perfectly legal practice. On the one hand, it recognises the existence of what may be termed the sweepstake habit by putting it on a legal basis; on the other, it very materially curtails the opportunities for indulgence in it. Surely the Government must know that there are hundreds of people who are not members of sporting or social clubs who like to stake a few dollars now and then on pony-racing, even though they may not be interested in the sport itself to a sufficient extent to attend meetings. Under the new law, such people will be unable to participate in sweepstakes, unless the organisers thereof take advantage of loopholes in the Ordinance. This may conceivably result in the sweep prizes being far less valuable than heretofore, but surely that cannot be the aim of the Government. Indeed, if anything ever comes of the idea of a tax on sweep tickets, the Government itself would suffer from the restrictions laid down. To our way of thinking, the Government need not have interfered with the sale of tickets at all. All that is necessary is to legalise the sweeps, confine them to reputable clubs, and exercise a reasonable measure of control. In other words, except for the legal sanction, allow present conditions to continue.

Coming Army Changes.

Many of the isolated military quarters throughout England are threatened with extinction when the recommendations of the Committee set up by Mr. Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to consider the disposal of Government properties which may not be required, have been tabled. In this day of centralisation the scattered barracks occupying sites in thickly populated districts, industrial and other, have to be used in the absence of alternative accommodation. In few (if any) districts are there adequate training facilities for the squadron, battery, or company, and the absence of any opportunity for combined training is a serious defect in a modern army. Another argument in favour of the disposal of some of these buildings is that they are expensive to maintain in tolerably good condition, while others are dilapidated. The sale of some of these sites, however, provided the money thus raised was used to build modern barracks in more suitable surroundings, would be a great benefit to the Army, and mean greater and deserved comfort for the troops. The barracks at Hounslow have been surveyed on behalf of the Treasury Committee. These quarters cannot be classified as modern, but improvements have been effected

The health return for the week-end shows one Chinese case of typhoid.

A whist drive is being held at St. John's Cathedral Hall at 8.45 p.m. to-day.

The s.s. Empress of Asia, which left Hongkong on August 20th, arrived at Vancouver on September 6th.

The P. and O. s.s. Malwa, with the English mails, is due here from Singapore at noon on Thursday.

Mr. W. W. Hornell, Vice-Chancellor of the Hongkong University, is to open the new school building of the Ying Wa Girls' School tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 p.m.

A Chinese charged to-day before Mr. Whyte Smith with the unlawful possession of 137 lottery tickets on the first floor of 394, Shanghai Street, was fined $50 or one month's imprisonment.

Charged with the larceny of a clock valued at $2 from a house in Wai Ching Street, Kowloon, a Chinese was sentenced to four months imprisonment by Mr. Whyte Smith to-day. The defendant admitted two convictions for larceny before.

The death by drowning of a young unknown Chinese girl was reported from the Un Long district over the week-end. The girl had fallen into a fish pond near the cracker factory at Un Long Market. She was rescued by a Chinese and taken to the dispensary, but died fifteen minutes later.

There during recent years which have brought them up to a satisfactory standard so far as old barracks are concerned. But, in view of modern developments of war and the training that is so essential, the location is unsatisfactory. Nor can we see any really sound reason for quartering a battery of artillery at Trowbridge and Christchurch or a Field Brigade at Brighton. These instances could be multiplied. It is suggested in some quarters that instead of maintaining barracks for each regiment recruits for the Army might be sent to one or two central places, where, after their six months' training, they could be allocated to the various regiments. One of the objections to this scheme would be the serious interference with mobilisation arrangements. It would also have a tendency to destroy the territorial spirit, as it must not be forgotten that the professional army, as well as the civilian army, has a distinctly Territorial basis.

The Female Bounder.

The other evening we had started an idle discussion on the subject of bounders; the infallible signs by which one could recognise them after only five minutes' conversation; why other men instinctively mistrusted them, and whether it was true—as our hostess, a well-known novelist, had contended—that women generally liked them, no matter how exuberantly they bounder. The discussion had begun idly, but it ended with everyone getting excited and waving arms about, writes Mollie Panter-Downes in the Daily Mail.

The men seemed extremely vague as to how one could exactly define a masculine bounder. They appealed helplessly to each other: "He just bounds— isn't that so? Directly you talk to him you think, 'This fellow's a bounder.'"

Define Her!

It did not seem quite good enough; we were not absolutely satisfied. How did he bound? What was the acid test that he failed so instantly and unmistakably to pass?

I had to admit that there was something about a genuine, flamboyant and unshamed bounder that fascinated and amused me; perhaps because he was such a refreshing contrast to the usual type of young public school Englishman who does the usual things and talks the usual talk. Like all women, I am growing tired of the type. If I want to be interested and increase my knowledge of human nature I would rather spend an evening with a sleek young Argentine whose taste in diamond cuff links and blackmail would place him definitely in the category of those who bound. But how preferable to remaining drearily, hopelessly static all one's life simply because one's father did the same kind of things before one!

Someone asked unexpectedly: "What about the female of the species? I suppose that there are women cads as well as masculine cads. How exactly would you define a feminine bounder?"

We said evasively: "It's not quite the same, of course." "Yes, it is, exactly—the only difference being that we say, 'The fellow's a bounder,' and you say, 'I can't bear that woman—she's a cat.'"

"Yes, I can't quite explain. There you are! You can't quite explain! And yet you feel instinctively the moment you speak to a woman that she is a cat—a bounder—whatever you like. The total sum will be the same. She bounds! What is it?"

We started getting excited and waving arms again. All the men agreed, with typical masculine complacency, that a woman who is condemned as a bounder by her own sex is sure to be attractive and popular with men.

We discovered that men were much more inclined to be intolerant than women were over what American advertisements describe delightfully as "social errors." A woman forgives another woman for attending a smart lunch in a golfing suit; men will immediately call a man a bounder because he wears loud ties and walks down Bond-street in plus-fours.

"But naturally! If another woman comes to the Ritz to lunch in a golfing suit, you won't condemn her—you'll love her. She will become your dearest friend. How attractive she makes you look! What a piquant contrast! You will tell her that nothing suits her so well as thick tweeds and doekin gloves—"

"What cats men are!" "But isn't that true, all the same?"

"Not at all! It's merely that women are so much more tolerant than men about those things, so much less tradition-bound. They stop and think before they condemn a man or woman as a bounder because his trousers are baggy at the knees or the ribbons of her chemise are showing."

"Then what is it that makes you say a certain woman is a bounder?" "We argued for some time without coming to any very definite conclusion. What precisely constitutes the feminine equivalent of the masculine cad?"

I have not called a woman a cad since I was at school, and then this strong expression was only reserved for the poor little devils who departed from our primitive and somewhat puzzling code of honour. You could be rude to a mistress, and you were a Joan of Arc. You sneaked someone's history notes, and you were a cad.

Incomprehensible system of ethics! No wonder that we sometimes slipped up on them. But the idea of some barbaric kind of honour was hazily present at the back of it all; you could brag, you could be a colossal nuisance to your fellows, you could even lie under stress, but the moment you were dishonest you were a cad.

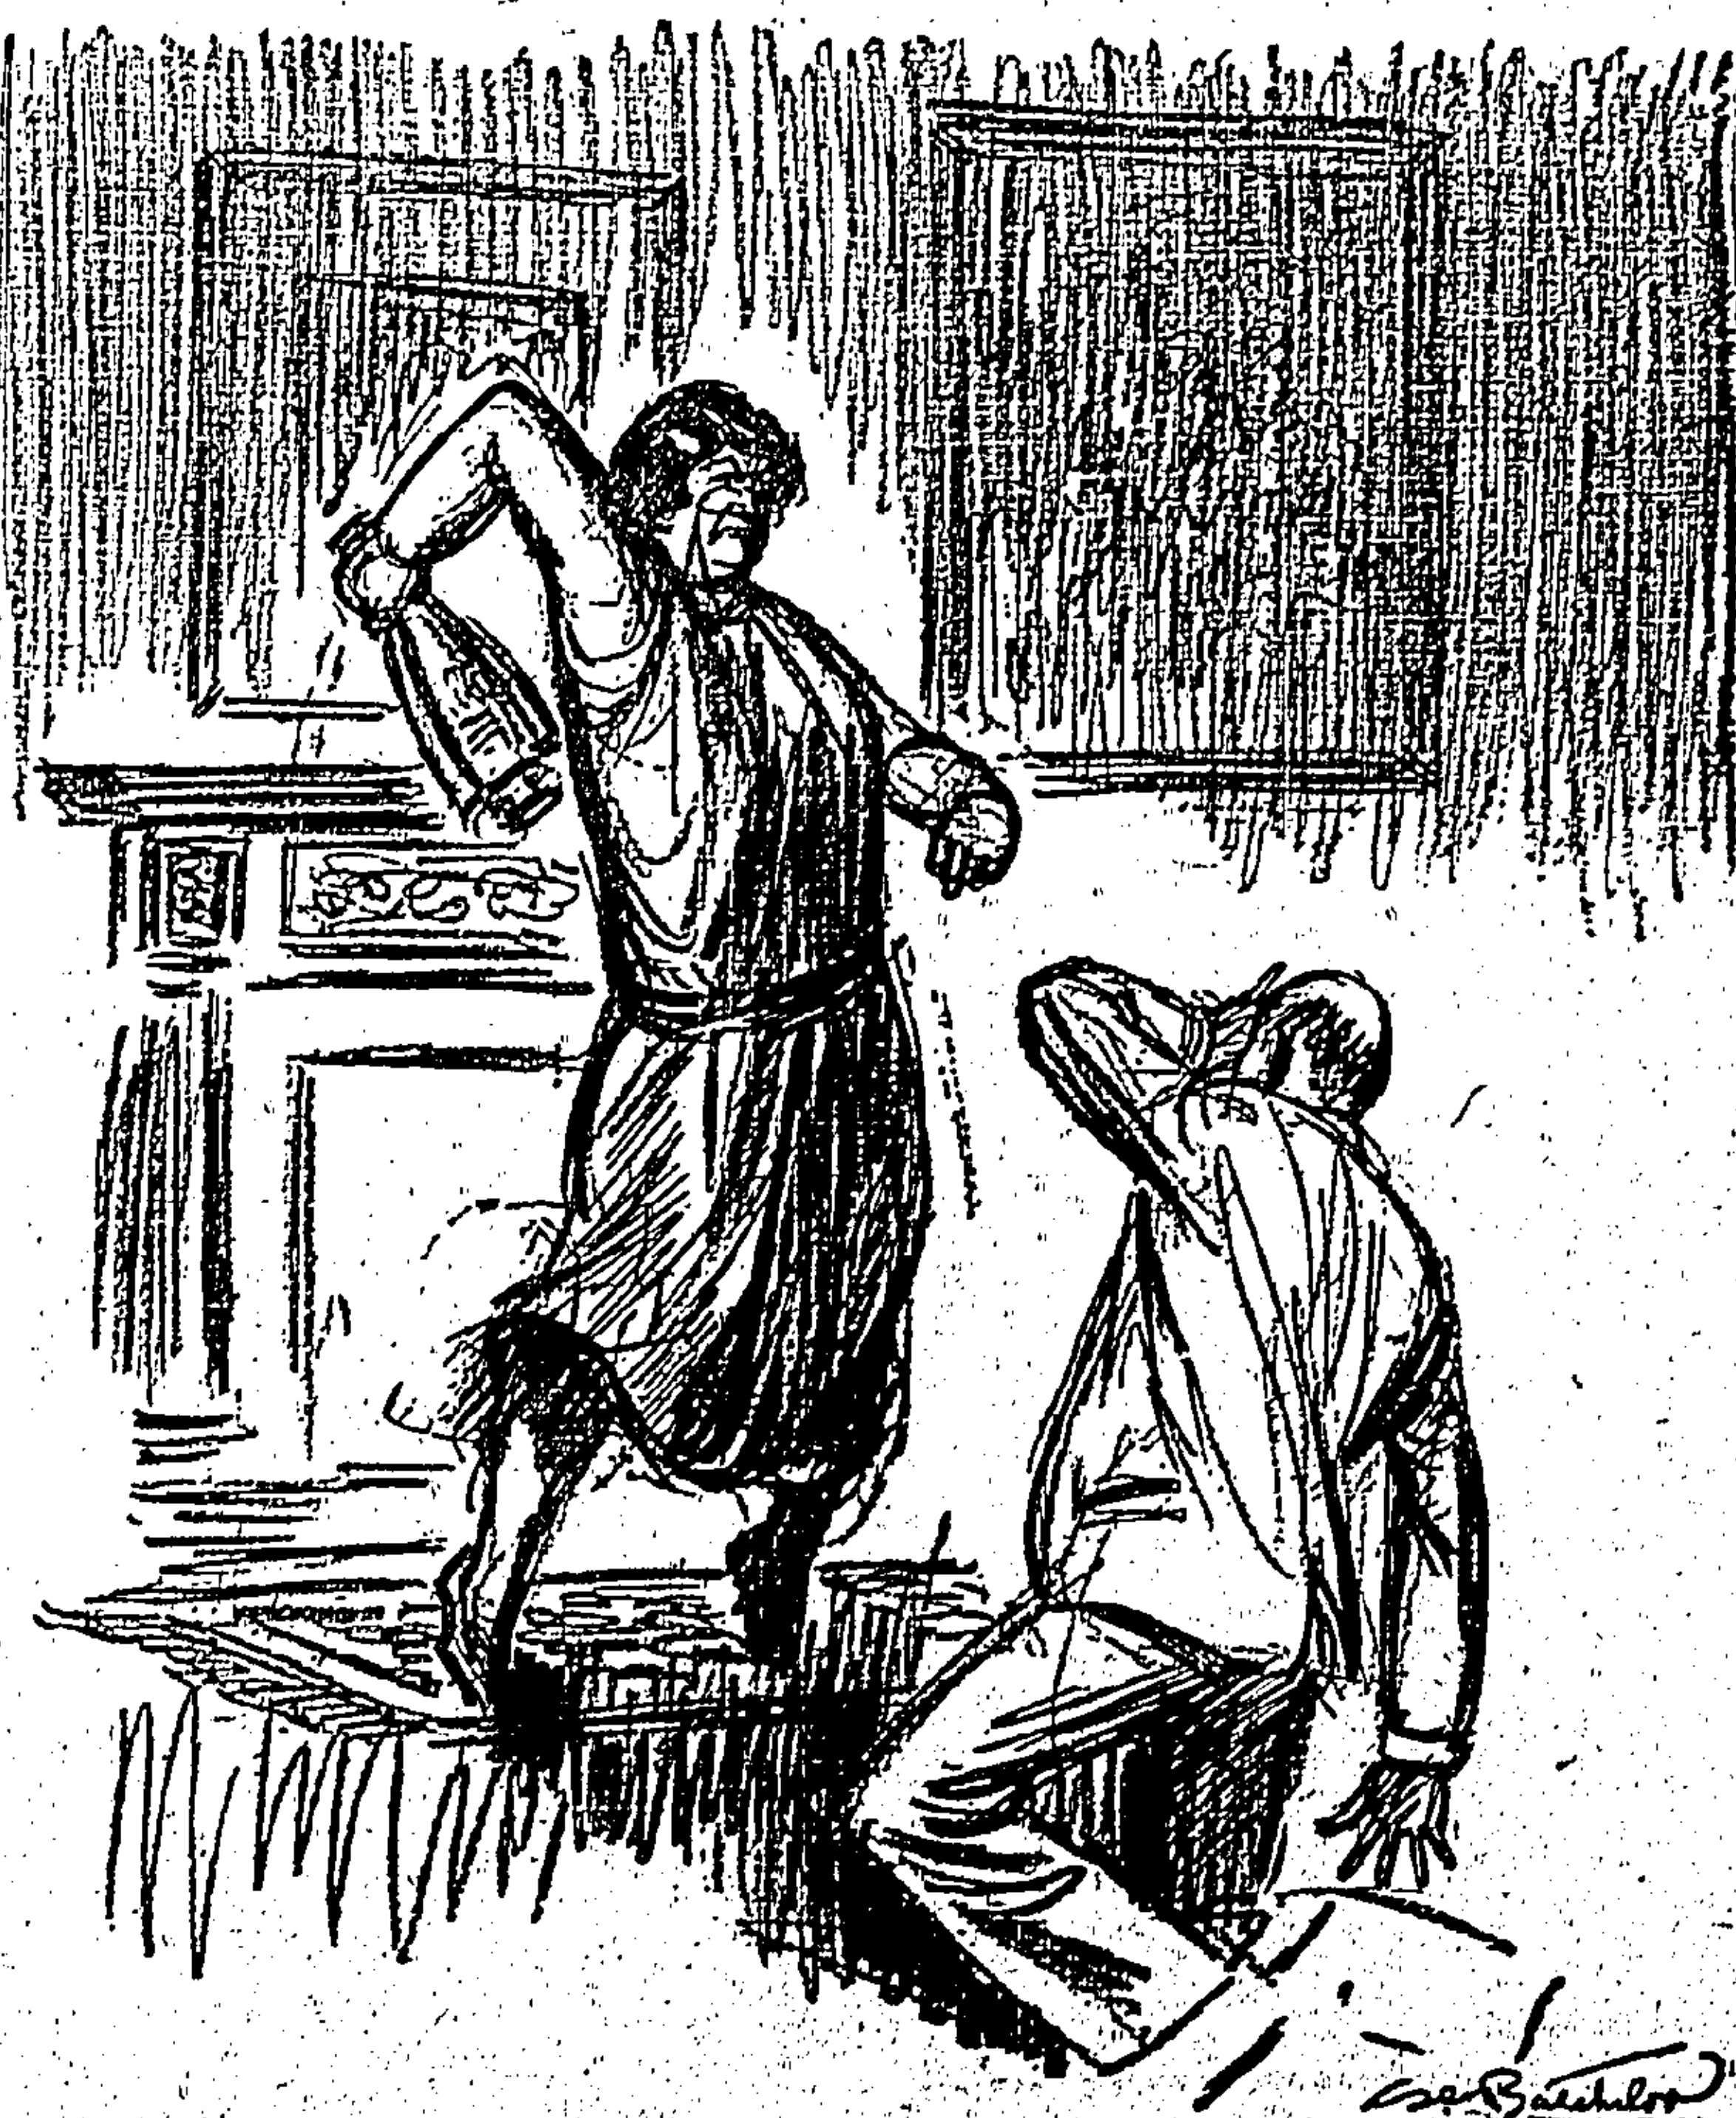

I wish that I were still so definite about black being black and white being white. I wish that I knew with such absolute calm conviction that a woman was a cad the moment that she started being dishonest.

But that sort of thing is so universal now, one moment you are sneaking someone else's history notes, and the next moment someone else's husband. No, I am afraid that it does not necessarily follow that a woman is a bounder because she is trying to sneak something that belongs to someone else.

100 Per Cent. Feminine.

What is it then, exactly? What is the indefinable something that makes invisible bristles stand on end when some women come into a room?

MANY TRIPS AS A STOWAWAYS.CANADIAN MIXES WITH PASSENGERS.*FOUND ON MADISON.

Failure to get work in Manila and a desire to get back to Canada, were the reasons put forward by a Canadian, Ian Thompson Bowers, who was charged before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with having stowed away on the President Madison from Manila.

"The defendant has been all over the world and has been having quite a good time," said Detective Sergeant Kellet. "He left Vancouver in October last and has been to England, India and Singapore. From the last named place he stowed away to Manila. But this is the first time he has got into serious trouble."

"He will eventually have to be sent back to Canada. When he was discovered only $2.30 was found on him."

Mr. Peterson, a ship's officer, said that the defendant was found mingling with the first class passengers three hours after the ship left Manila.

Mr. Whyte Smith:—I thought you would have the tickets of the first class passengers checked before the ship left.

Sergeant Kellet:—He was very well dressed, and sported a new suit and a new tie.

Mr. Whyte Smith (to defendant):—You seem to have made a practise of going all over the world without paying your fare.

The defendant:—I have heard of lots of people doing it before but I did not know what serious trouble it would get me into. I suppose it is only the spirit of youth. Of course, I am very sorry I have come here now, but all I want is to get back to my country.

Mr. Whyte Smith:—You must realize that you are getting something without paying for it. Fifty dollars or one month.

Another Case.

Two Malaysians, Gossop and Johnnie Arhab, were also charged with having stowed away on the s.s. Glenberg from Singapore.

The first defendant was unable to speak English, but the second defendant admitted the charge, and said that he had gone on board the ship and had fallen asleep in the bunker.

Sergeant Jessop said that the two defendants were found hiding underneath a shelter on the morning of September 3. The vessel sailed from Singapore on September 2. When they were discovered they gave themselves up. No money was found on them.

Mr. Whyte Smith:—$50 or one month.

OFFICIAL RUBBER DECISION.

The wealth brought into these countries by the rubber plantation industry has done untold service to the Government and the native population alike.

It is therefore inconceivable that the Governments concerned, quite apart from the serious loss of revenue involved by years of unremunerative rubber prices, can be willing to stand aside and see the plantation industry ruined, with the consequent suffering and unemployment to Europeans and natives alike, when by the exercise of control over output and of new plantings the prosperity of all European and Asiatic alike, engaged at the present time in the industry can be assured.

Certainly, unless a very rapid change comes over the industry, the prospect of which cannot at the moment be foreseen, the results from all rubber plantations during the current year are bound to make most dismal showing.

"Restriction No Cure."

Medan, Aug. 27. Heer van Sandick, a former Governor of the East Coast of Sumatra, and now a member of the Council of the Netherlands East Indies, has returned to Batavia after spending six months in Holland.

Referring in an interview to the present crisis in the rubber industry, Heer van Sandick said that he did not expect restriction to be of any use as a cure.

The native planter might promise to co-operate in some voluntary scheme, but there was no guarantee whatever that he would stand by this word. If there was no money he would always be compelled to tap or to sell.

As to the decrease in May and June of the native rubber exports, Heer van Sandick said that this gave no indication whatever. It might be that tapping was continued, for no one knew the stocks of the estates and the dealers, which would be sold when prices were remunerative.

Production Costs.

These were the stocks which would spoil the market and make

CHASTITY TO BE REWARDED.CONDITIONS ON BEQUESTS IN A WILL.*A $30,000 FUNERAL.

Bequests to his wife and three concubines, conditional on their not marrying again, remaining chaste and returning to his native village of Chiu Chow, Swatow, within a reasonable time after his death, were made by Choy Kit-sze, alias Choy Pik-cheong, merchant, who left local estate to the value of $360,000.

Testator died at 9 Fat Hing Street, ground floor, on August 28, 1929. He was late of 36, Bonham Strand West, where he owned a quarter share in the Yuen Seng Hong.

Probate of the will and codicil has been granted to a son, Choy Hon-sui, executor and trustee, who is living at the Bonham Strand address.

Testator left ten sons to whom he bequeathed his interest whatsoever in the good-will (if any) and stock-in-trade of the Yuen Seng business as tenants in common in equal shares, and directed that each son be given $1,500 of the original capital. He was also a partner in the Yuen Wing Bank of Swatow with a share of $20,000, of which he bequeathed $3,000 to his wife, and to his third, fourth and fifth concubines, and $1,500 to the daughters-in-law of his eldest brother, the balance to be appropriated to the ancestral worship fund.

Referring to his wife and concubines, testator's will reads they shall only be entitled to their share if they return to his native village and if they remain unmarried and chaste. If those conditions are not fulfilled the share or shares shall immediately cease, and in that event shall be equally divided among those who observe the conditions.

Testator further directs that funeral expenses shall be $20,000 and interment expenses $10,000 in Hongkong currency.

Another Will.

Mrs. Dora Nesbitt, formerly of Hollow Meadow, Chagford, Devon, who died at No. 99, Cromwell Road, Kensington, Middlesex, on February 2, this year, left Hongkong estate which has been valued at $6,100, while net personally elsewhere amounts to $31,368 14s. 11d.

Re-sealing of certified copy of probate has been granted to Mr. D. J. Lewis, of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master, who is attorney for testator's husband, Mr. T. M. M. Nesbitt, a solicitor and the Public Trustee, the executors appointed in the will.

After making various family bequests, the will directs that the residue shall be held in trust for the education, maintenance and benefit of a great-nephew, while from and after his death the fund and accumulations shall be devoted to the Waifs and Strays Society and the London Female Guardian Society, both of London, in equal shares.

FAIR WEATHER.

The Royal Observatory reports that a belt of relatively high pressure extends from east China to the North of Japan and a trough of relatively low pressure from Indo-China to Guam. The typhoon has moved to the N.E. of the Bonins.

The local forecast is:—E. winds, moderate; fair.

The Hongkong & Canton Ice Manufacturing Co., Ltd., advertise that the ninth ordinary yearly meeting of shareholders will be held at Lane Crawford's Cafe, Exchange Building, on Tuesday, 23rd September, at 10.45 a.m.

The China Light and Power Recreation Club are arranging a concert for the evening of September 27 next.

null and void the better influences of restriction.

The only thing was to decrease production costs; those companies which could not accomplish that would better abstain from rubber production.

Heer van Sandick had talked to many prominent men in Holland, and he said, their outlook on the situation was gloomy. But, he said, there was a silver lining.

Those workers whose suitability was doubtful would be dismissed, leaving the most productive behind, and the organisation would reach a higher level.

There would also be the "survival of the fittest." The badly-organised and too expensive companies would disappear. From an economic point of view this would make general production cheaper and tend towards better and more scientific methods.

WOMEN DEFEAT A SNATCHER.VICTIM CATCHES THIEF IN THE STREET.*DAUGHTER'S PLUCK.

Mrs. Tam Sze, the wife of a shopkeeper, and her 16-year-old daughter, were to-day commended by the Magistrate (Mr. Lindsell) for their display of public spirit in effecting the capture of a pick-pocket who made an attempt to snatch a handbag carried by the elder woman.

The thief was sentenced to nine months' hard labour and to receive 20 strokes of the birch.

In detailing the case, the prosecuting police officer said that Mrs. Tam Sze and her daughter were returning home at 11.30 on Saturday night, after an evening at the Koshing Theatre.

In a side street, the elder woman, while clasping her handbag in both hands, had it rudely snatched away. The thief, who had made his approach unobserved, darted away as soon as he had secured possession of the article.

"The daughter ran after the man and they fell together. The mother then caught him by one of his legs," stated the officer.

It was stated that no previous conviction was recorded against the man, although he admitted freely having been concerned in a number of similar larcenies.

ATTACK ON GIRL IN PARK.BLOW WITH SPANNER BY A MAN.*BAG SNATCHED.

An attack was made by a man with a spanner in Brockwell Park on Miss Rose Vine, aged 29, of 40, Peabody Trust Cottages, Rosendale-road, Home Hill.

She went out at about 6.45 a.m. to walk across the park and was looking round for a friend when she heard a rustle of paper behind her and saw a man with something wrapped in newspaper.

To a reporter she said: "I walked on, but, becoming aware that I was being followed, I turned round again and saw a man standing behind me with a heavy spanner in his uplifted hand."

"He struck me a fierce blow on the head, which brought me to the ground, bent over me, and threatened me."

"I screamed for help, but he snatched my handbag, after a struggle, and rushed across the park. Two men came along, and my assailant, who was running away, said to them: 'I think somebody has knocked that girl down. I am going to get help.'"

The handbag contained only 6d. A heavy spanner was found near the scene of the attack.

The police have hopes of making an arrest soon. The man is said to be about 25 years of age, and was wearing a dark coat, wide light-coloured trousers, and a cap, which he had pulled down over his face.

A resident of Arlingford-road thinks the man had slept in the park all night, as his daughter, looking out of the window at midnight, says she saw a man climb the park railings and vanish behind the trees.

The attack has caused much alarm, coming after the recent attack on the 15-year-old schoolgirl, Miss Mary Celia O'Connor, at Raphael Park, Romford, and numerous cases of bag-snatching in the past few weeks.

Last year there were 127 cases of bag-snatching in London, and at Christmas there were 19 cases in 18 days.

LATE MR. WILLIAM GARDNER.REMAINS BURIED IN ROMAN CATHOLIC CEMETERY.

The funeral of the late Mr. William Gardner, who died at Shanghai recently, took place at the Roman Catholic Cemetery on Saturday, the remains having been brought down from the North for interment.

His Lordship the Bishop (Mgr. H. Valtorta) performed the last rites with the assistance of the Rev. Father G. M. Spada. The chief mourners were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. J. Gardner, Sister John and Sister Rita, both of the French Convent, Miss Gardner, Mr. R. C. Silva, and grand-children.

Amongst those present were the Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga, Mr. A. F. B. Silva-Netto, Chev. J. M. Alves, Mr. V. Soares, Mr. H. Figueiredo, Mr. F. M. Graca, and Mr. M. Botelho.

THE FEMALE BOUNDER.

I have only known two incomparable and perfect bounders of my own sex in my life, and they had one curious thing in common. They were both sweetly, overpoweringly, stiflingly, 100 per cent. feminine. They traded on it deliberately; they tried to stress it as the loathsome bustle of the '80s did its best to stress the curves of the female form.

To my way of thinking, that is pretty significant. A feminine bounder may have individual ways of "bouncing," but she is nearly always 100 per cent. feminine. And that, for her own sex, is her crime. They will mistrust her without knowing why. They will see all their petty little tricks and meannesses of soul reflected in her; they will know her next card before she plays it, and despise her accordingly.

Sentence of four months' imprisonment was imposed by Mr. Whyte Smith this morning on the Chinese who was charged with the larceny of an iron standard from the Club de Recreio football ground. The defendant on Saturday denied having served a sentence in gaol, and the case was put over to verify this. It was proved this morning that the defendant had served three weeks for larceny last year. "You have told a deliberate lie," remarked Mr. Whyte Smith, "and you had no business to be on that field. It is worse than a theft from the public road."

CHEATING IN U.S. COLLEGES.REGARDED AS QUITE LEGITIMATE.*FACTS AS TEST.

The bland assertion in the Yale Daily News, a paper published by undergraduates at the University during term time, that one half of the Yale undergraduates are guilty of cheating at examinations, has provided a new variant to the theme of "What is Wrong with Modern Youth?"

The matter was made more serious by the further assertion of the undergraduate publication that the offence was not regarded as a serious one by the students. The charge was not made that in competitions for special College prizes cheating was indulged in; but that when it was a question of "getting through" to secure a degree the student looked upon the examination as a game in which a little outside aid was perfectly legitimate.

Cheating at the American Universities is not a new problem. An attempt to solve it was made at the majority of Colleges by the institution of the "Honour" system, under which each undergraduate pledged himself "on his honour" not to cheat. In addition any student caught in the act was "sent down" by the College authorities.

Not a Social Outcast.

The system appears to have been only partially successful. College students from a number of institutions have admitted that cheating regularly goes on, though they considered that the 50 per cent. estimate of the Yale News was probably an exaggeration. They also confirmed the statement that the cheat would not be regarded in any way as a social outcast in the undergraduate world for what he had done.

Newspapers which comment on the problem lay the blame on the moral training of the rising generation. But some blame might reasonably be attached to the matter of the examination itself.

The suggestion that half the undergraduates at Oxford or Cambridge secured their B.A. by cheating would rouse a hearty laugh for the simple reason that (putting aside for the moment any invidious comparison of moral standards) no amount of smuggled facts would enable an undergraduate to turn answers, which would on their merits secure a pass degree only into the type required for the award of First Class Honours.

Changing to English Way.

In other words, facts, to the English examiner (this applies more particularly to the Humanities), are of far less importance than their presentation and the way in which they are employed to illustrate theory. In the American examination "factual knowledge" is the all-important thing. Yale and Harvard are changing to the English system of tuition and College organisation. A change to the English style of examination paper would probably suppress any traces of this intellectual bootlegging which is damaging the good name of American youth.

ADMIRAL CHAN AT HOIHOW.AVIATORS COMING FROM AMOY.

Canton, Sept. 5. Admiral Chan Chak, Commander-in-Chief of the 4th Naval Squadron (Kwangtung Provincial Fleet) has arrived at Hoihow aboard his flagship Chung Shan.

After leaving Canton on Tuesday, Admiral Chan Chak, together with Vice-Admiral Chan Hing-wan, went ashore at the Bocca Tigris forts, at the entrance to the Canton River, where they inspected the garrison and the fortifications. They remained at Bocca Tigris over night and sailed for Hainan at daylight on Wednesday.

It was recently reported that the Amoy School of Aviation was to be transferred to Canton. It is now learned that the twelve students of the school, together with seven aeroplanes and a lot of material, have been embarked at Amoy and will arrive here tomorrow. They will proceed to the aviation ground at Tai Sha Tau, where they will continue their training under the supervision of the Kwangtung Bureau of Aviation, the entire school including all aeroplanes and other material having been taken over by the Provincial Government.—Our Own Correspondent.

JAPANESE DEFEAT THE KIAORAS.

The Japanese continue their winning way in league baseball. Kiaoras tried them out yesterday but their hitters were right out of the picture and very seldom really got on to Koga. The seven-four score in favour of the Japanese was indicative of the interesting yet uneventful game. There was not enough sting in it to work up the crowd, for, from the first ball, the Japanese were always superior.

It was Koga who the Kiaoras really bumped into although full honours of the victory must not be laid at his door; he was solidly supported to the man by the other eight. Koga's performance, however, was his best this year. He had them over the plate right from the start and gave only four walks while he fanned seven.

There were few hits out of the diamond to bring the fans to their toes; on the whole the batting was light. Kiaora's rally came in the sixth but they did not take the opportunity coolly enough and a couple of wild attempts to steal killed their redoubtable soon after it began.

The line-up and box score was:

INTERPORT LAWN BOWLS.

HONGKONG AND SHANGHAI TEAMS LEVEL.

EACH WIN MATCH.

Hongkong lost the first of the series of Interport bowls matches on Saturday being beaten in the opening game by the Shanghai four by a margin of 23 shots to 17, but won the second match yesterday by 20 to 15.

The teams in the first match were:

Shanghai—J. Munro, C. M. Sequeira, A. J. Hall, Gavin Campbell (skip).

Hongkong—C. Atkinson, F. C. Goodman, C. G. Silva, R. F. Luz (skip).

The team in the second match were:

Shanghai—A. McLeod, W. Turnbull, R. P. Phillips, A. A. Malcolm (Skip).

Hongkong—C. Atkinson, G. McLeod, F. C. Goodman, R. F. Luz (Skip).

Our Own Correspondent cabling from Shanghai says that under conditions most unfavourable, yet producing as impressive play as in any past contest, Shanghai defeated Hongkong in the Interport Bowls match on Saturday by 23 shots to 17.

The outstanding player was unquestionably Sequeira, who was mainly responsible for Shanghai's success, whilst Luz dominated the Hongkong side by his clever and forceful play.

Periodical showers during the morning and strong spells of sun after tiffin allowed play to begin at 4.15. There were no changes effected in either teams, and although the conditions were rendered most unfavourable by the sudden ground, there was a fair attendance of spectators, who thoroughly enjoyed the play, and were kept amused by the quaint commentary, and excited over the action of several of the players.

Sequeira Dominates.

The outstanding player was unquestionably Sequeira, who made scarcely more than half a dozen weak shots, and was mainly responsible for Shanghai's success. All the team did exceedingly well under the conditions, and the contest was, according to the oldest local Interport, as impressive as any past Interport match.

Luz dominated the Hongkong side, his play being as clever as his manner was forceful and encouraging, and Hongkong deserves full credit for making so close a fight.

Shanghai were two up at the first end, thanks to good work by Sequeira. The Hongkongers scored five at the second end; Luz's last wood splendidly removing Shanghai's nearest shot, which was lying second. Shanghai obtained a two at the third, all the balls with the exception of two being near the jack, and levelled the scores at the fourth when Sequeira, who lay shot, remained undisturbed through the rest of the morning. Munro's shot lay through the fifth end, giving Shanghai the lead, and at the sixth—a long end—the honours were shared by Munro and Sequeira, the rest being very short, Shanghai securing a two.

At the seventh, which was the best end of the afternoon, Munro was again well up, with the rest short, but Hall who lay shot was nibbled by Sequeira. Campbell bowled a good shot of wood, but was robbed by Luz, which allowed Hongkong to lay two, and Campbell's last wood "found timber."

Shanghai Take Lead.

At the eighth, a short end, Atkinson lay behind the jack with his first wood and also found a good second, but Sequeira beat him, and Campbell drew another shot to give Shanghai a two.

At the ninth, Luz played a forcing shot to give Hongkong a single and at the tenth, Sequeira drew in beautifully round a good lay of woods, allowing Shanghai to lead 12-8.

Hall played a heavy draw at the eleventh and succeeded in forcing out Hongkong's two lying shots, but Luz "knocked in one of the woods to give the visitors the end."

Atkinson placed a fine shot right on the jack with his first wood on the twelfth, but a heavy shower of rain fell to stop play for ten minutes. Upon the resumption, Luz carried the jack to lay shot, but Hall and Campbell bowled fine woods to draw on the "inside end to give Shanghai a two."

The thirteenth was a good head, each leading in turn, but Luz eventually drew the jack to give Hongkong a single.

The Fourteenth.

The fourteenth was one of the most exciting ends of the game, all four Hongkong players laying shots. The Shanghai men were narrow, and amidst a burst of applause the visitors drew level with their opponents, the scores reading 14-11.

The fifteenth was another good end, Shanghai capturing two and at the sixteenth, Sequeira and Hall dominated the bowling to add four to the Hongkong total.

Some amusement was created at the seventeenth, when the Shanghai skip threw the wrong bias and gave Hongkong their fifteenth point, but on the next end, a brilliant shot by Campbell allowed Shanghai to capture one. Luz was unfortunate with his last shot.

At the nineteenth, Goodman lay a nice one for Hongkong, and on the last end, Atkinson drew a beauty, practically covering the jack. Munro, however, came up and drew the jack covered by his opponent's ball. Hongkong were strongly placed with three seconds, but Hall got in with a fine second wood just behind the jack.

Luz drove unsuccessfully with his first wood, and Campbell managed to block the green for a draw. Luz was forced to attempt another drive with his last wood, but was unlucky, and Shanghai took a two to win by 23-17.

Of the Hongkong team, Atkinson was good, but erratic; Goodman failed to find his usual form and Silva was inclined to bowl heavy.

The Interporters were entertained at Luna Park after the match. In a second Interport match, Shanghai, defeated Hankow by two shots, the scores reading 15-13.

According to a Reuter's message the conditions were bad with rain interrupting the play and the greens were heavy. Shanghai were consistent throughout, with Sequeira outstandingly the best man. Hongkong were patchy. They scored five at the second end which was the only time they were leading. The score at half way was 12-9 in favour of Shanghai and at the fourteenth 14-14. Hankow, in the match with Shanghai, played well for the first ten heads but then went to pieces.

YESTERDAY'S GAME.

HONGKONG ALTOGETHER THE BETTER SIDE.

Cabling last evening, Our Own Correspondent at Shanghai describes yesterday's match as follows:

The Shanghai Interport bowlers were handsomely beaten to the tune of 20 shots to 15. Malcolm, however, died fighting; and in the opinion of an unbiased observer, one man beat the team—this was the imperturbable, calculating and competent Luz, who really won the game by actual play even more than by his excellent team direction. Furthermore, it was acknowledged by Shanghai, and was obvious to expert observers, that the visitors must have been handicapped in being puzzled by the fast, tricky green, having played two games under vastly different conditions.

The Shanghai side also had the advantage of not having played on heavy greens.

The Colony team was the better one all round. There was a large attendance, and glorious weather, though it was hot at the start. Malcolm continued his chatter and his amusing antics, which drew much laughter.

The Play Described.

Hongkong won the toss, and started. Turnbull lay a shot, and Luz narrowly missed displacing him. Shanghai were one up. At the second end, Shanghai were lying four, but Goodman relieved the pressure by forcing the ball on the jack, giving Hongkong one.

At the third end, Atkinson drew his shot, which was never interfered with, adding one for Hongkong. The fourth was a full length good head. Phillips made a nice shot, securing the jack in favour of Shanghai.

At the fifth, McLeod layed two beauties, and Atkinson, with his second wood, trailed the jack and lay. This evoked applause. Goodman drew another shot, but Malcolm trailed the jack. Hongkong lay one. "Tubby" Turnbull then lay two beauties, but Goodman with a wicked in and off one of his own balls lay shot, giving Hongkong one.

Hongkong Consistent.

In the sixth, Hongkong's consistent bowling resulted in a margin of three to them. In the seventh, Goodman lay a fine shot, but was displaced by Phillips. Luz came through and drew the shot, giving Hongkong one.

A the ninth, Malcolm called for a block when Hongkong were lying three, in a dangerous position. However, Phillips drew the shot. Luz then made an excellent attempt to trail the jack, but just failed to hold it. The score was now 8-4. Clever play followed by Luz, who was applauded when he drew two shots, the result being three in favour of Hongkong.

In the tenth, Goodman lay shot, and Luz played a pretty shot. Sandy Campbell's last was a beauty. Hongkong scored one. The eleventh and twelfth saw average play, resulting in two to Shanghai.

Temporary Lapse.

The fourteenth was ragged, Hongkong either going too wide or short. Malcolm removing Hongkong's fourth shot resulted in a gain by Shanghai of seven points, bringing the score even. There was now great excitement.

The next was a moderate end, Hongkong scoring one. The sixteenth saw a good position constantly changing. Luz made a determined effort to save the situation, but his last ball just failed. Shanghai scored one, to bring the score to fourteen all.

BAD SARDINES.
FIRST DEFENDANT FINED HEAVILY.
When the case against four shopkeepers, charged with having in their possession sardines unfit for human consumption, again came before Mr. Whyte Smith, on Saturday, Mr. L. R. Andrews, the prosecuting counsel, said that though he could prove that the second defendant, Lei Sul-fai, who was represented by his nephew, was in fact a partner in the firm of Chung Tai, he could not directly connect him with the ownership of the sardines. The second defendant was therefore discharged.
The first defendant, Lei Wu, was convicted and fined $500 or, in default, three months' imprisonment. The third and fourth defendants, Ho Leung and Ho Sit, were granted bail in $500 each.

Story of a Trader.
Lei Wu, the first defendant, said that he was the accountant of the Chung Tai shop at 58, Reclamation Street. The tins of sardines were given to him by a travelling trader, who had asked him to rent out a store. He was keeping the sardines until the trader came back to claim them. The trader himself paid the rent for the store at 16, Reclamation Street, and got some men to look after the store till he arrived. Witness denied having told Inspector Taylor that he did not belong to the Chung Tai firm. When the Inspector called at the shop and said he had found 3,200 tins of sardines, witness told him that they belonged to the trader. He did not say they belonged to the firm. Witness agreed with the trader to rent the store for one month and witness paid the rent on behalf of trader. The receipt was made out in name of the shop. Witness got nothing out of the arrangement. The boy who was found in the premises was found in the shop. He was a coolie who used to do odd jobs for witness. The trader paid the man his wages. The trader had not come back to help witness out of this trouble. The landlord had complained to witness that the sardines smelt badly, but the trader had not told him that the tins were damaged by water. The only thing which the trader had told him was that he (the trader) had bought the tins at an auction and that some of them were broken and some damaged. Witness did not know that it was such a serious matter. He only did it as a favour to the trader.
Ip Sau-san, the boy who was found at 16, Reclamation Street, said that he was employed by the trader as a caretaker in the store.
Story Disbelieved.
Mr. Whyte Smith (to the first defendant): I do not believe your story about the travelling trader; and even if I did I would still convict you. It was you who got these premises for the trader and therefore you are virtually the tenant of this place. You knew perfectly well that these tins were damaged and broken, although you did not realise the seriousness of what would happen. Each one of these tins might have caused the death of some purchaser. I have to take into consideration the fact that the public must be protected. It is a most scandalous thing and terribly serious. $500 or three months' imprisonment.

PRETTY LOCAL WEDDING.
YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED AT UNION CHURCH.
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Union Church, Kennedy Road, on Saturday between Miss Elizabeth Philp Langley, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. R. Langley of No. 27 Connecticut Avenue, Greenwich, Connecticut, U.S.A., and Mr. George Edward Kerr, son of the late Mr. E. G. Kerr of High Malins, Dumbarton, Scotland and Mrs. Kerr.
The Rev. F. Short officiated, and Mr. G. E. Longyear presided at the organ. The hymns were "The Voice that breathed 'O'er Eden'" and "O, Perfect Love."
The bride, who was given away by Mr. C. A. Grimes, wore a creation, by "Worth" of New York, of white satin, princess style, and white net veil with hand made lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white ginger lilies, with asparagus fern.
The bridesmaids were Miss Marie Clarke and Miss Joan Smith, with Miss Rosemarie Richards as flower girl. The first-aided were a white net over pale blue satin with coronet, while Miss Smith was attired in white net over pink satin with coronet, both being in mid-Victorian style. The flower girl's dress was of white net over white satin with tiny pink roses with coronet and she carried a basket of Honolulu creeper.
Mrs. C. A. Grimes was matron of honour and wore a dress of beige georgette and lace, with hat to match. All the dresses, with the exception of the bride's, were made by Madame Leite.
The duties of best man were discharged by Mr. R. B. Bell, while Messrs. T. W. Carr and R. Gillespie were the ushers.
Following the ceremony at the church, a reception was held at 123, Wong Nei Chong Road, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Grimes where the happy couple were the recipients of the felicitations of their many friends.
The honeymoon is being spent at Repulse Bay, the bride's going away dress being of an Aquamarine silk crepe ensemble, with hat to match.
There was a grand array of presents, including quite a number from America, the chief gifts were: Bride to Groom Gold Watch; Groom to Bride Gold and Diamond Brooch; Bridesmaids Gold and Sapphire Pendants; to Flower girl Gold and Amethyst bracelet, and to Matron of Honour Gold and Platinum Pendant.

THE DEADLOCK IN INDIA.

COMMENT BY HOME PAPERS.

London, Sept. 6.

The Indian Peace talks form the main item displayed by the morning papers, many of which already devote leaders to the subject.

The Daily Herald believes that "with wisdom on both sides success is still securable," and urges the British Government to make it plain that the Round Table conference is summoned to arrange with essential temporary safeguards for the self-governing of India. It also urges that the conference shall not be confined within the frontiers of the Simon report. The journal says that Congress "on that promise and on the condition that political prisoners be amnestied" should call off the civil disobedience campaign, and participate in the conference.

The Times says that in the letter to their Viceroy the three prisoners laid down conditions which would be more appropriately imposed by leaders of a partially successful military revolution. They demanded the Government's complete surrender.

Tribute is paid by the Times to the patriotic efforts of Sapru and Jayakar, and the Government of India, it is added, was fully justified in assisting them to the utmost. "It is desirable that Congress should be represented at the Round Table conference, but the presence of their delegates is not indispensable. The Government and its co-operators can continue their preparations for meeting in London with a clear conscience."

The Morning Post hopes that the Government, "having proved by sad experience the futility of these proceedings, will turn to their real business, which is to govern India and to restore order."

The Daily Mail says that "in India we must govern or go, and we do not intend to go in spite of Lord Irwin and his friends."

Lord Irwin's Advice.

Poona, Sept. 6.

In the course of the peace negotiations Lord Irwin intimated that if the question of secession was raised the Indian Government would not be able to treat it as an open question.—Reuter.

Failure of Leaders' Efforts.

London, Sept. 6.

The failure of the unofficial efforts of Moderate Hindu leaders to restore peaceful conditions and to bring about the cessation of the Civil Disobedience campaign in India prior to the meeting of the Round Table Conference is now confirmed in a statement issued by the Hindu mediators, Sapru and Jayakar. The failure is due to the overreaching demands made by the Congress leaders which include the right to secede from the Empire, and the National Government to have full economic control and the control of India's defence forces.

The Viceroy, Lord Irwin, informed the intermediaries that the discussion of such proposals was impossible and commented upon the blank refusal of the Nationalist leaders to recognise the grave injury that was being done to India by the civil disobedience movement.

The Times, commenting on the correspondence, says that it is clear that any tendency on the part of Gandhi to compromise was overly misinformed by a small group of politicians who had his confidence. The two members of the Cabinet who were his most intimate friends are now his bitter personal rivals, and by their intrigues for power have been largely responsible for keeping Irigoyen so long in the dark.—Reuter's American Service.

Cadets Turn The Scale.

New York, Sept. 7.

A message from Buenos Aires states that although practically all the troops in the Buenos Aires Garrison were involved in the revolution, its success was mainly due to the participation of fourteen hundred cadets from the Military College, who were the first to answer the call when a rebel aeroplane signalled that the moment for the revolution had come. Many cadets arrived on the scene of action in private motor-cars, belonging to wealthy families.

Eight regiments stationed at Campo Mayo were expected to form the bulk of the invading forces, but declined to participate. Many police as well as civilians joined the insurgents.

The capital had a demonstration all night long to celebrate the fall of the Government.

Ex-President Released.

It is now stated that only 15 were killed and 190 wounded in the revolution.

Uriburu has telegraphed ordering the release of Irigoyen, who is confined in the barracks at La Plata.—Reuter's American Service.

Wheat Market Affected.

New York, Sept. 6.

The Buenos Aires correspondent of the Associated Press says that the political upheaval has considerably affected the wheat exchange where transactions to-day were the dulllest in history.—Reuter's American Service.

HINDU-MOSLEM CLASH.

TROUBLE IN A SUBURB OF BOMBAY.

Bombay, Sept. 7.

Twenty persons were injured in Hindu-Moslem rioting in Dharavi suburb. The trouble arose when a Hindu procession passed playing music in the vicinity of a mosque.—Reuter.

borne by the Nehrus, father and son, and adds, "It is quite unjustifiable to assume that the refusal of the Congress Party to attend the Round Table Conference, except on terms which no self-respecting Government could accept, will wreck the conference. Local and well-organised, what is the Congress Party? It is no more than a party lacking in cohesion, united only in opposition to the Government, which has so far given no evidence of constructive ability beyond a scheme for a constitution which all Indian minorities have rejected. All other sections of British Indian opinion will be represented at the conference in London, and it should be remembered that in essentials there is no great difference in principle between the demands of Moderate Hindu Parties and those of the Congress Party."—British Wire.

FEDERATION OF EUROPE.

DISCUSSIONS AT LEAGUE MEETINGS.

BRITISH ATTITUDE.

London, Sept. 7. At the League meetings which begin at Geneva this week, the Council to-morrow and the Assembly on Wednesday, one of the most prominent subjects will be M. Briand's Federation scheme.

M. Briand is to address a special conference upon it on Monday afternoon and is known to desire that his proposals should figure formally upon the Assembly's agenda. Opinion regarding them shows some differences among the delegates from different States.

The British insistence that any special European organisation should be kept strictly within the League framework is supported in many quarters but otherwise there is some discussion whether the economic or the political aspect of the scheme should most advisedly be developed.

It is generally believed that the British delegation is by no means enthusiastic about entering any political commitment beyond those involved in the League membership, and is inclined to prefer that precedence be given to the economic side of the project.

The British Foreign Secretary, Mr. Arthur Henderson, had a conference yesterday with the Canadian delegate, Sir Robert Borden, and will maintain the usual close contact with all the Dominion delegations.—British Wireless.

COAL MARKETING SCHEMES.

ALMOST READY TO GO IN OPERATION.

London, Sept. 7. It is understood that the coal owners have reached an agreement to establish marketing schemes in all the twenty-one districts under the Coal Mines Act, and that practically all the schemes are in accordance with the terms of the Act or of the model scheme recommended by the Mines Department.

In consequence it is probable that by the end of the month the industry will be ready to embark on what amounts to a drastic change in its organisation, since from that point all collieries in the country will be regulated as to standard tonnage and quota, and coal will take its place with railways, electricity, gas, broadcasting and other enterprises which have come under a substantial measure of legislative control.

Amalgamation Commissioners shortly to be appointed will begin with schemes where progress has already been made, and will do all they can to promote voluntary amalgamation and avoid the use of their compulsory powers.—British Wireless.

KEY OF THE EGYPT'S STRONG ROOM.

DISCOVERED IN CAPTAIN'S SAFE.

Brest, Sept. 7. When the safe recovered from the captain's cabin of the sunken liner Egypt was opened a bag was discovered containing the key to the strongroom, in which the gold ingots are stored.

The key, however, is useless, as the decks must be cut through before the gold can be reached, but the presence of the key proves that the liner is certainly the P. and O. Egypt.

The safe also contained a mail-bag much damaged by seawater, in which were British diplomatic documents dated 1922, when the Egypt foundered.

To-night, as the weather has improved, the Artiglio is preparing to return to the scene of the wreck.—Reuter.

"WIZARD" CHARGES SHROFF.

TOOK MONEY COLLECTED FROM CLIENTS.

In a case before Mr. Lindsell today at the Central Magistracy, a man plying the profession of a "wizard" amongst the superstitious fisherfolk of Aberdeen Village was described as the complainant.

He charged a man whom he employed in the capacity of a shroff with misappropriating £18.30, collected from two different clients.

The Magistrate:—For services received by being a wizard?

Sub-Inspector A. V. Baker, prosecuting, agreed.

His Worship had previously commented on the youthful appearance of the complainant.

The shroff was sentenced to four weeks' hard labour after making what his Worship held was a self-incriminating statement.

NOTED VISITORS TO COLONY.

WIFE OF GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF AUSTRALIA.

AND TWO DAUGHTERS.

Distinguished visitors at present staying at Government House are Lady Stonehaven and her two daughters, the Hon. Ariel Baird and the Hon. Hilda Baird, accompanying them being Lieut. D. Nicoll, A.D.C.

Lady Stonehaven is the wife of Baron Stonehaven, Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia, a post which he has held since 1925. She was formerly Lady Ethel Keith-Falconer, being the eldest daughter of the Earl of Kintore. There are two sons and three daughters by the marriage.

Lord Stonehaven, who was formerly Major J. L. Baird, was at one time in the Diplomatic Service. He served as Intelligence Officer during the Great War, being mentioned in despatches and securing the D. S. O. decoration. He was for some years Conservative M.P. for Rugby and for Ayr Burghs, and among the posts which he held were those of Parliamentary Under-Secretary to the Home Office, Minister of Transport and First Commissioner of Works.

Lady Stonehaven and daughters are at present on a pleasure tour of the Far East. Whilst in Manila, they were the guests of Governor-General Davis.

Lady Stonehaven and her daughters are travelling on the St. Albans from Brisbane, to Yokohama. The party will proceed to Honolulu, where Lord Stonehaven will join his family. The term of Lord Stonehaven as Governor-General of Australia will expire on October 2, and he will leave shortly thereafter for Honolulu via New Zealand.

From Honolulu Lord Stonehaven and his family will go to Canada for a cross-country tour. They expect to arrive at their residence in Ury about the end of the year.

hour here awaiting the Swedish battleship Michael Sars, which will accompany the Dratvaag to Tromsø and later to Sweden, where the remains will be honoured in death and their discoverers given the praise of their fellow Scandinavians.

Third Man's Fate.

Tromsø, Sept. 3. Apparently the third man who made the ill-fated Polar expedition 33 years ago with H. Andree, Norse explorer, perished in the long march across the ice, either freezing to death or falling through a hole in the chill polar crust.

This was revealed to-day with the arrival of the rescue ship. It was thought that all three of the explorers were found frozen to death and their bodies preserved by the sub-zero temperature.

A boat containing bones was brought ashore on oars by 12 sailors and an examination was made. Tone Seindberg, brother of Mils Seindberg, one of the party of rescuers, made a sketch of the boat after it was brought to land.

But the remains of only two members of the Andree expedition were in the basket taken ashore from the sealer Bratvaag to-day. It had been hoped that the bones found in Andree's boat were those of the third member, presumably Knut Fraenkel, but scientists said after examination that they were polar bear bones.

however, shows that these reports were incorrect.

Still Held by Rebels.

This is as follows:—"Due to the insistent rumour of the fall of Nanning, the Kwangsi capital, current in the commercial circles during the last few days, although there has been no official communique confirming such report, press representatives went to interview C.-in-C. Chan Chai-long yesterday at his residence in Tungshan, in order to obtain reliable news regarding the present situation of Kwangsi."

"According to General Chan, Nanning is still in the hands of the Kwangsi insurgents under Wai Yun-chung and Lu Fu-hsiang, who on account of the shortage in ammunition and foodstuffs, had intended to evacuate the city; hence the circulation of the rumour. Nanning is being besieged by the 20th Route (Yunan) Army, commanded by Lu Han, Chu Cho and Chang Chung."

GRIM STORY OF MURDER.

RECENT NEW TERRITORIES AFFAIR.

WIFE ARRESTED.

Further details have been disclosed in connexion with the alleged murder of a Chinese in the New Territories.

On the 1st instant, at Sheung Tse, situated in the Autau district of the New Territories, an old man, plying the trade of a bean curd manufacturer, disappeared from the village. Three days afterwards his body was found in a newly-dug grave on the hillside, half-a-mile from the village.

The grave was very shallow and the body was already in an advanced state of decomposition when it was exhumed by police officers and examined for marks of violence.

As a result, the arrest of a woman was effected, on a charge of murder, followed quickly by that of four men, who are alleged to have been her associates and to have aided and abetted her in the crime.

An interesting development next occurred in the discovery that the woman arrested was the wife of the murdered man.

Investigations by the police have revealed that after being severely injured with a bamboo pole which had a sharp point at one end, the man was dragged out into the open where he was lynched, death being caused by strangulation with a rope.

It was arranged for the preliminary hearing of the case to be taken this morning by the Court of the District Officer of the Northern Territories.

STREET FIGHT OVER A WOMAN.

DEFENDANT CHANGES HIS STORY.

Two Chinese were charged before Mr. Whyte Smith this morning with fighting in the street.

The first defendant:—I was walking in the street with a woman when the second defendant came up from behind and pulled her away.

The second defendant:—This woman had been staying with me before. I went to Canton last year and when I returned I found that the woman had gone away with all my property to the extent of $400. The other day I saw her in the street with the first defendant and I went up and pulled her aside to question her. The first defendant then struck me a blow and I returned it.

The second defendant, however, went back on his story later and said that he saw the woman walking alone and not with the first defendant.

A pretty Chinese woman then came forward and bore out the first defendant's story.

Mr. Whyte Smith, remarking that the fight was really started by the second defendant when he pulled the woman away, fined him $5 and cautioned the first defendant. Both defendants were also bound over in a bond of $50 each to keep the peace for six months.

"REDS" THREATEN SHASI.

Peking-Hankow Railways. The leaders of both Governments are paying more attention at the moment to winning over the allegiance of the Manchurian government than to the continuation of the warfare.

Marshal Yen Hsi-shan is reported to be inspecting the Shansi fortifications at Tachow, on the Chihli-Shantung frontier.

Denial by Chang.

Shanghai, Sept. 7. According to the Kuo Min news agency, General Chang Hsueh-liang on September 5 wired to Marshal Chiang Kai-shek categorically denying the latest crop of rumours that he is joining the Northern coalition in the establishment of a Government at Peking.

"Recently the rumours have become so rife and numerous that it is well impossible to explain away every one of them," is the comment.

Chang Hsueh-liang has allegedly also wired to Marshal Yen Hsi-shan declining to participate in the new Peking Government.—Reuter.

News has been received of a success of another former pupil of the Central British School, Kowloon. This is Kathleen Nightingale, daughter of the Headmaster of the School named, who has passed the University of Cambridge School Certificate Examination, with distinction in English.
